BY ATLANTIC CABLE

From Geneva—Progress of the Conference

NEW YORK, June 2[illegible]—A special dispatch from Geneva announces the presence of General Sherman. Yesterday he visited General Dufour, formerly commander of the Swiss army. He goes next to Rome and thence to France.

Lieutenant Grant is at [illegible].

Secretary Borie arrived at Geneva yesterday.

The Herald's Geneva special says that members of the Tribunal are less reticent, and yesterday they communicated the fact that the representatives considered that the business would be in such a shape that the arbitrators would give a decision favorable to the preservation of the treaty.

The representatives of the American and English Governments visited each other and interchanged courtesies.

A Washington dispatch states that Bancroft Davis telegraphed to the State Department yesterday that he had on Tuesday submitted the instructions sent him on last Monday to the Board of Arbitrators, considering all the claims presented by the United States, and wanted them to decide upon the amount due to the United States for alleged violation of the rules of neutrality during the war. Tenderden replied that the British Government had instructed him to dispute the statement of the American agent claiming that England has acted on the demand of the United States for an award of the gross sum, and disputed the claim for money awards for losses to marine insurance, prolonging [illegible] of the war and their [illegible] further [illegible] that England [illegible] in any way culpable [illegible] expressed their regret which [illegible] in the treaty, but if the United States [illegible] money award [illegible] would [illegible] the Tribunal was empowered [illegible] to decide the amount [illegible] the rule of [illegible] the [illegible] article of the treaty. He concluded that he must submit the American argument to his Government before assenting to the Tribunal proceeding, and asked an adjournment to Thursday.

MEXICO.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2[illegible]—News received from General Rosell and Palmer's railroad surveying party in Mexico to-day under dates from the Capital to June 5th is very satisfactory. The routes via Colima and Guadalajara to the Capital and from El Paso to the Capital have been surveyed, and the Palmer party are now surveying one from Guadalajara via San Blas through Jolisco, Sinaloa and Sonora to the Arizona line.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Betting on the Presidential election is not legal now, but a sale of 50 tons of barley was made to-day on Change, the purchaser to pay two cents per pound if Grant is re-elected and to have it for nothing if he is not.

Sailors are now getting $50 per month, gold, on coasting vessels, and it is anticipated there will be great difficulty in shipping seamen for the grain fleet bound for Atlantic ports.

The Abundance Consolidated Mining Company, to operate in Mammoth Mining District, Nevada, capital $3,000,000, and Tambien Mining Co., to operate in Ruby Hill District, Shell Creek, White Pine county, Nevada, same capital, were incorporated to-day.

Notwithstanding the disappointments, repeated disastrous failures and loss of life and property, a western Coco's Island pirate treasure hunting expedition is being organized in this city. Several men who have lost heavily by former expeditions are interested in it.

There are now 30 [illegible] vessels [illegible] due [illegible] this port from Atlantic ports, and it is expected that their arrival will reduce the price of charters for carrying grain to Europe, as many of them are available for that purpose. SUISUN, June 2[illegible]—A fire broke out in the two story brick building occupied by Dr. Pressley, druggist, W. F. & Co's Express, telegraph office and a saloon. The building is badly damaged. It was insured. Wells, Fargo & Co. and the telegraph offices all right.

UTAH

SALT LAKE, June 27.—The Miller mine, American Fork Mining District, south of the Emma hill, has changed hands. The record of deed shows a consideration of $2,000,000. It was purchased last year by Aspinwall for $90,000.

A large and rich body of ore has been struck in the Gladiator tunnel, near the Emma mine.

Thousands of tons of ore are daily being shipped from Little Cottonwood to smelters by railroad since the opening of the wagon road.

POLITICAL NOTES

Vice President Colfax is named as probable successor to General Schenck as United States Minister to England.

It sounds like old times to hear of Wigfall again. We thought he was dead years ago. He has crept out of obscurity with the rest of the fossils to say that he goes for Greeley.

A thousand dollar Kentucky bull recently undertook to stop a locomotive. The horns, hide and tallow are for sale. William Lloyd Garrison has very appropriately notified Charles Sumner of this sad occurrence.

The present prospects of the Greeley ticket remind one of the northern clime of which the woodcutter wrote: "There ain't nothin' to complain of up here, but there is a spell in August when the sleighin' ain't first rate."

The Free Traders who nominated Wm. S. Groesbeck of Ohio for President the other day nominated Fred. Law Olmstead of New York for Vice President. They declare that Greeley doesn't represent their principles and they can't support him.

What Mr. Greeley once said of General Grant may be said now with added emphasis: "The people of the United States know General Grant—have known all about him since Donelson and Vicksburg; they do not know his slanderers and do not care to know them."

The Democrats are exhibiting symptoms of intense disgust at the rapacity of their Liberal allies. There are just about enough of the latter to fill all the offices, and they want the Democrats to furnish all the votes and be satisfied with the honor of helping to "beat Grant."

The New York World makes bold to predict that "within the ensuing five weeks the bubbling Greeley froth will utterly subside." It further vouches for the opinion that "as a Democratic candidate pure and simple he is the absurdest that could have been imagined outside of a lunatic asylum."

The Toledo Blade says the man who ate sixty mince pies in an hour, the man who ate sixty hard boiled eggs in thirty minutes, and the other performers of wondrous feats of deglutition, are all thrown in the shade by the Cincinnati nominee, who has just five months in which to swallow the utterances of twenty years.

"What useful purpose will be subserved," the New York World inquires, "if the Baltimore Convention indorses a man who is beaten from the start? None of course, and therefore what is the use of having a Baltimore Convention at all? Any man it can nominate or indorse is certain of defeat."

The New York World is rather spicy reading just now. It deals out sturdy blows in all directions, reserving its heavy artillery, however, for the Greeley movement. In a few words with the Democratic partisans of Greeley it sums up, saying that the effort to sweep the Democracy into the yawning abyss that swallows up the Chappaqua Yeoman will fail, and that every reflecting Democrat will agree with it "that the sooner the sun ceases to shine on this new thing the better."

A Story about Professor Morse

We happened to meet Colonel Strother, the famous Porte Crayon, and the talk turning as usual upon Morse, the Colonel said:

I knew him well. I took lessons under him in drawing and painting. I first saw him when he was a competitor for the remaining panel in the rotunda of the the Capitol. I thought then he ought to have had it. I think so yet. He was not a great artist, but he was enough of one to save us from ridicule. The job was given to Mr. Powell. General Schenck did that. The General probably did not know one picture from another, but Mr. Powell was his constituent, and he believed, as did Schenck, that something in the way of art should be done for the Miami bottoms, so he worked at it till he got the commission.

"And one day," said we, "Congress will give Gen. Schenck permission to remove that terrible product of the Miami bottoms. But what about Morse?"

Well, I engaged to become his pupil, and subsequently went to New York and found him in rooms on University place. He had three other pupils, and I soon found that our professor had very little patronage. I paid fifty dollars that settled for one quarter's instruction. Morse was a faithful teacher and took as much interest in our progress, more, indeed, than we did ourselves. But he was very poor. I remember that when my second quarter's pay was due him it did not come as soon as expected, and one day the Professor came in and said courteously—

"Well, Strother, my boy, how are you off for money?"

"Why, Professor," I answered, "I am sorry to say I have been disappointed, but I expect a remittance next week."

"Next week," he repeated sadly, "I shall be dead by that time."

"Dead, sir?"

"Yes, dead of starvation."

I was distressed and astonished. I said hurriedly: "Would ten dollars be of any service?"

"Ten dollars would save my life; that is all it would do."

I paid the money, all that I had, and we dined together. It was a modest meal but good, and after we had finished he said:

"This is my first meal for twenty four hours. Strother, don't be an artist. It means beggary. Your life is dependent upon people who know nothing of your art and care nothing for you. A house dog lives better, and the very sensitiveness that stimulates an artist to work keeps him alive to suffering."

I remained with Professor Morse three years and then we separated. Some years after I met him on Broadway one day. He was about the same as before, a trifle older, and perhaps somewhat ruddier. I asked him how he was getting on with his painting, and he told me that he had abandoned it, that he had something better, he believed, and told me about his proposed telegraph. I accompanied him to his room and there found several rolls of wires twisted, bent, and the batteries which he explained to me. His pictures, finished and unfinished, were lying about covered with dust. Shortly after Congress made an appropriation, and Morse was on the high road to wealth and immortality.

Sumner's Slanders

RELATIONS OF SECRETARY STANTON WITH GENERAL GRANT—LINCOLN'S DISGUST WITH THE GREAT FOOL OF MASSACHUSETTS.

[Correspondence of the New York Herald.]

It is remembered that the first person of distinction to congratulate General Grant upon his nomination at Chicago was the Secretary of the War Department, who, for that purpose and to the astonishment of those in his office, left the War Department, in which he had been kept a close prisoner through the efforts of President Johnson to dispossess him in violation of law, and went across the street to General Grant's headquarters, where his manner toward the embryo President was so unmistakably sincere and cordial that General Grant was visibly affected by it. This visit was the subject of much comment at army headquarters at the time, because, although the relations of the Secretary and the General of the army had always been cordial and the latter had often acknowledged the unreserved support and confidence he had received from Mr. Stanton, the position of the latter with regard to General Grant's candidature for the Presidency was not understood, owing to the Secretary's habitual reserve. The conduct of Mr. Sumner at this juncture is unfavorably contrasted with that of Mr. Stanton in regard to a circumstance somewhat identical. The latter had more than once been made by President Lincoln the recipient of his views concerning the Massachusetts Senator, and they were too much in accord with those now entertained by Sumner's enemies concerning his egotism and arrogance and the paucity of his recent achievements to be flattering to his vanity. On one occasion, in particular, while in the Secretary's room in the War Department, Mr. Lincoln lost his temper in warming up with his oft recurring theme, and demanded to know what Sumner had ever done that he should presume to dictate the whole policy of the Government on every question, and brand with treason and imbecility the men who had done the work of the nation while he stood vaporing with idle words. Neither before nor after the death of Mr. Lincoln did the Secretary, who made the best excuses for Sumner that he could devise at the time, ever repeat the occurrence to anybody so far as known, and only the excited manner and loud tones of the President, which carried the conversation outside the private room, preserved the incident for the future.

THE GROWTH OF RAILWAY TRAFFIC.—The enormous increase of railway freights is one of the marvels of recent business development in the United States. Notwithstanding the increase of railroads in all the Northern States, there is not now one of the leading lines which is not fairly blocked with freight. It may be, moreover, broadly stated that not one of the great east and west roads possesses to-day tracks and machinery to do properly the business that crowds upon it. The Pennsylvania Central, the Lake Shore, the Erie and the Atlantic, and the Baltimore and Ohio, are all in the market as heavy purchasers of new engines and cars, one of these lines having in process of construction 190 new engines, and another 1,500 cars of a single class. Car and locomotive builders are surfeited with orders covering all the work that they can possibly turn out for months to come. Not less notable is the enlargement of the capacity of the roads themselves. Lines that have struggled along with a single track now yield to the pressure of growing trade, and are laying with all possible dispatch a second line of rails. The double tracking of the Lake Shore road throughout its entire length is an example of this. The Pennsylvania Central is rebuilding entirely its eastern division, straightening the last thirty five miles of that distance. Much of the new road comprises three distinct tracks. The increase of railway business is chiefly in the matter of freights. The growth of freights is simply enormous, and furnishes from day to day the best possible evidence that, notwithstanding all the sorry grumbling that one hears from time to time, the nation is enjoying a season of prosperity that has never been surpassed. The power of railroads to create business and develop a country is just beginning to be properly understood.—Exchange.

HOME, WIFE AND SATURDAY NIGHT.—Happy is the man who has a little home and a little angel in it of a Saturday night. A house, no matter how little, provided it will hold two or so—no matter how humbly furnished, provided there is hope in it, let the winds blow, close the curtains. What if they are plain calico without border, tassels, or any such thing? Let the rain come down, heap up the fire. No matter if you haven't a candle to bless yourself with, for what a beautiful light glowing coals make, rendering [illegible], shedding a sunset through the room, just light enough to talk by, not loud, as in the highways, nor rapid as in the hurrying world, but softly, slowly, whisperingly, with pauses between, for the storm without and the thoughts within to fill up with. Then wheel the sofa round by the fire, no matter if the sofa is a settee uncushioned at that, if so it is just long enough for two and a half in it. How sweetly the music of silver bells from time to come falls on the listening heart then. How mournfully swell the chimes of "the days that are no more." Under such circumstances, and at such a time, one can get at least sixty-nine and a half miles nearer "kingdom come" than any other point in this world laid down in Malte Brun. Maybe you may smile at this picture, but there is a secret between us, viz: It is a copy of a picture rudely done but true as the Pentateuch of an original in every human heart.

RESULTS OF CARELESSNESS.—It is surprising what little knowledge some people have of the uses of a Postoffice and how careless they are in availing themselves of its advantages. The Post & Record furnishes some curious and interesting statistics on this head in connection with the Dead Letter Office. Last year three million letters were received at the repository. Sixty-eight thousand of these letters could not be forwarded owing to the carelessness of the writers in omitting to give the county or State, four hundred thousand failed to be sent because the writers forgot to put on stamps, and over three thousand letters were put in the Postoffice without any address whatever. In the letters above mentioned was found over $32,000 in cash and drafts, checks, etc., to the value of $3,000,000. There was 39,026 photographs contained in the above letters. Of course nearly all the money and valuables were returned to the owners, but much needless delay would have been avoided if more care had been used in addressing these letters.

The University of Oxford will celebrate its thousandth anniversary this year. Popular tradition assigns King Alfred the Great as its founder, about the middle of the ninth century.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE [illegible] 1872

The Lost Past

In his speech before the [illegible] Democratic Convention of Indiana a few days ago Mr Hendricks who had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for Governor [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Herald prints these [illegible] [illegible] them noble

> We have turned our backs on the past —we stand in the present and [illegible] the future —the past is lost to us —the future [illegible] [illegible] make a glorious one

Mr Hendricks has pronounced for Greeley The Herald's special endorsement of this speech he made when he accepted the Greeley nomination for Governor may be taken as an indication that that paper is getting ready also to support the philosopher of Chappaqua Like Mr Hendricks it will soon be prepared to say that it has "turned its back on the past" In other words that it has abandoned the old principles and landmarks of its party and started out in quest of fresh fields and pastures new

But it will heave a sigh with Mr Hendricks as it takes this last departure it will drop an expression of profound regret as he has done over the fact that "the past is lost to us" —that is to say to its party Slavery is lost though the Herald's party tried to save it and devoted many years to its championship Secession theories are lost, which the same party invented and long battled for Repudiation is lost though Democracy was its champion, and the Herald once called it the "vital issue" in politics The position taken by the same party against civil rights is lost and what Democrat who thinks of it can withhold the passing tribute of a sigh? Thus indeed is the whole past of that party lost and gone What a fact is this to be lamented

Doubtless they who utter this lamentation would feel better if they had not lost so much If they had not lost human slavery if they had not lost their theory of State rights and secession if they had not lost that embodiment of genuine Democratic principles the Southern Confederacy, if they had not lost their favorite doctrine of repudiation if they had not lost in opposing civil rights and equal suffrage, they would unquestionably be more cheerful. How much to be regretted it is that they have been forced to "turn their backs on these favorite and most beautiful political principles of their lives!

Mr Hendricks and the Herald want to make the future "a glorious one" How glorious can the future be made by a party which has such a past as this party has and which sighs with deep regret on being compelled to acknowledge that that past is lost?

The Staple of Absurdity

Senator Trumbull, of Illinois is reported by telegraph to-day as having said in a stump speech at Springfield that there is great danger from Grant for a variety of causes one of them being the "military spirit which impels him to centralize power in his person" And Mr. Trumbull proceeded to pronounce such a tendency full of danger to a free people whose rights and liberties, by being gradually obstructed, were in danger of being lost entirely"

Are there no legitimate grounds for criticism against Grant? Unquestionably such grounds might be found by the opposition, yet, twaddle like, this of Trumbull's might lead some to suppose otherwise Mr Trumbull, though not a very great man yet possesses abilities, and since he opposes the candidate of the party which he has heretofore acted with, he ought to be able to state some reasons for that opposition which are not an insult to the intelligence and common sense of the country. A man claiming to be a statesman ought to respect himself too much to deliver statements that sensible people if they notice at all will treat with contempt

For of course nobody believes that Grant is bringing about a "dangerous centralization of power in his own person" Nobody for a moment imagines that the tendency of his administration is to encroach on and swallow up the "rights and liberties of the people" It is true, indeed, that he has an orderly or two about the White House to act as his Private Secretaries and to [illegible] him in dispatching business This, no doubt, is a terrible military ring. But we trust not to see it subvert the liberties of a mighty nation of a free people.

Declaimers like Mr Trumbull do not inform us in what ways the rights and liberties of the people are being "obstructed" No bill of particulars is presented The people are not sensible of these dangerous encroachments They find themselves in possession of as many rights and liberties as they ever possessed at any period of their lives. And they feel pretty certain of being able to take care of their liberties without advice or assistance from interested and howling demagogues

The matter of this speech of Trumbull's is the staple of all the demagogical harangues now being uttered about "centralization" For demagogy it is about as low and contemptible as Governor Grover's whilom speeches in this State upon the "great Chinese question" Mr Trumbull and others who speak as he does begin by declaring General Grant a very incompetent man and one signally conspicuous for his lack of abilities They end with declaring him an ambitious and dangerous man whose enterprising abilities, exerted against the liberties of the people, are likely to overturn popular government Something better is necessary for the campaign than stuff and nonsense like this which the intelligence of the people will treat with contempt

It is said that the North Pacific Railroad Company have been proposing to extend their road to Bellingham Bay or some point far down Puget Sound By doing this they would get an immense frontage of land all along the Sound and many islands besides But it is now announced that notice has been given by the Secretary of the Interior to the Northern Pacific Railway Company that as soon as they shall complete their railway to any point on Puget Sound, that point will be regarded by the Department as the western terminus of the road, and the land grant will end there

It will be remembered that the Legislature at its last session organized a "smelling Commission" to investigate the management of the Penitentiary and other State business under the preceding administration It looks as if the coming Legislature would have to follow this illustrious example Bill Watkinds has expended on the Penitentiary eighty thousand dollars more than the appropriation, and the vouchers for it have been issued Here is a promising field for Legislative investigation

Jasper Johnson has been heard from He was a looker on at the Philadelphia Convention Not exactly a looker on either for the great man we are told claims to have [illegible] [illegible] the Convention and nominated Grant He says he had Grant nominated because his own penetrating intellect enabled him to see that Grant was the weakest man in the Republican party and the easiest to beat Hence Jasper formed his mind upon and had Grant nominated The [illegible] of two Conventions will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] weeks When he arrives [illegible] [illegible] try to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] copyright [illegible]

We are informed that we learn this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] written editorial [illegible] [illegible] the East Portland [illegible] [illegible] and subsequently copied from [illegible] [illegible] paper as Democratic authority We predict that the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] day and that it will be copied in like manner [illegible]

Your information is absurdly erroneous no doubt it came from the [illegible] [illegible] from which you obtained your boasted and wonderful facts and figures relative to railroad management that is to say it is the offspring of your own clumsy invention

The vote of Oregon in our first State election in 1858 was 10,0[illegible] In June 1860 it was 13,1[illegible] In June 1872 it was [illegible]480 thus indicating that the population of Oregon has just about doubled in twelve years

Mr Thos Scott President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad is also President of twenty six other railroads He controls seven thousand miles of railroad and credits to his salary account $170 000 per annum He began railroading as a brakesman

POLITICAL OPINIONS

The Mobile Register a leading Democratic organ of the South says

Fully one half of the Democrats of the country and heaven knows how many of the [illegible] [illegible] Republicans who started the [illegible] [illegible] movement have revolted [illegible] the work [illegible] parties [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] fragments [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that the danger of the shock is least upon the strength and discipline of the [illegible] party It is idle that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] throwing up their hats for Greeley in a blind taking for granted that their new born idol is being borne on the swell of a Harrison freshet to the Presidential seat no sane man can take [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] where the votes are to come from that will elect him

The New York Herald after carefully reviewing the political situation says

The Congressional opposition scheme for the defeat of Grant by bringing his administration under the ban of public opinion as incoherent, careless, ignorant, blundering and corrupt have failed and the opposition element will have to cast about for something else than the developments and [illegible] of the late session of Congress if they would make even a vigorous campaign against General Grant's re-election The personal accounts of Mr Sumner Mr Schurz and others against Grant will go for nothing in the Presidential canvass The great question upon which it will be determined is this Will the general interests of the country be safer under the administration of General Grant for the next four years than in the hands of a new party or of the old Democratic party on a new departure

In New York City there are published several Irish Catholic papers of influence and [illegible] Most of them take strong ground against Greeley One of them—the Tablet—says

Mr Greeley has shown alike his want of statesmanship and of principle in his readiness to seize upon every popular excitement every radical movement every popular insurrection or projected reform, at home and abroad as a means of securing popularity for himself or of his party In a word he is a professed philanthropist and philanthropy has been well defined The love of all men in general and the hatred of every man in particular unless, perchance he has a black skin or a black character All your philanthropic movements of the day trample down more good by the way than could possibly be gained by success in their schemes Few men have exerted a more disastrous political and moral influence on the country during the last thirty years than this same Horace Greeley and nothing could more seriously disgrace the American people than to elevate him to the Chief Magistracy of the nation

The Carolina Watchman an influential Democratic paper fears that the candidacy of Greeley instead of dividing the Republicans will divide the Democrats It says

It is asserted and apparently not without good ground that the promised strength of the Liberal Republican movement has not been developed thus far but that on the contrary there are growing signs of weakness and lukewarmness among the prime movers of the revolt which indicate a very rapid decline Indeed the whole discussion seems to be confined to the Democratic papers at the North and the evidences of a wide breach in that party are much stronger at this moment than of any formidable defection from the Administration If this shall continue to increase in violence and bitterness, by the time the Baltimore Convention meets it will be difficult to reconcile the warring elements The aspect of affairs in the North at present certainly forebodes trouble in that body and may result in a split or bolt as at Charleston in 1860 when the Northern and Southern Democracy divided on the nomination of Douglas

CITY.

A Boat [illegible] —The circumstances of the man Chapman leaping overboard from the ferry boat yesterday and deliberately drowning himself forcibly suggests one very apparent defect of the ferryboat By all means in the world there should be kept, ready for any emergency a small light skiff. If such a craft had been procurable yesterday, when Chapman leaped into the water there is no doubt but he could have been saved with all ease. It is true he voluntarily sought death but that is no reason why every possible effort should not have been put forth to save his life as much so at least, as if he had taken laudanum or any poison, and a stomach pump had been brought into requisition Suppose on the other hand, that he or any other person on board had accidentally fallen into the river There would be the same liability of drowning as there was in his case. It is a necessary measure of public safety, and there ought to be provided a boat suitable for such purposes Persons who cross are liable at any time to fall overboard The law compels steamers to carry life preservers and life boats for the safety of passengers and we fail to see why a ferryboat is not bound to do the same thing A light skiff or two would involve but very trifling expense, and we hope to see this [illegible] carried into immediate effect The authorities should see that the law is enforced in this respect

PASSENGERS FOR PORTLAND —The steamship John L Stephens which sailed from San Francisco for Portland yesterday, brings the following passengers Dr A M Loryea and family, Rev J W Miller, Gen Tyler, W H Pearce, J R Shed [illegible], P Richardson Rev C C Stratton, Miss T Raymond, Dr J Linderman, G C Wallace and family, J L Duckworth, J E Smith and family, S T Hyams, Dr M N Griswold, C H Webster S F Kits, F Beal, S G Miller Wm Noble, A Mitchell and family, J F McNaught, Miss S K Wallace, Fred Butch, S L C Brown, Miss Mary E Mack, Miss B Clements and child A D Jessop, L A Plummer and wife, Miss Grinnell, Miss L Miller, Miss Opitz Miss A Jewett Mrs M J Pilkington Mrs E Fletcher, J M Anderson and wife, C C Cowles and wife, R Wanderson and family, Mrs E Smith, V Hodge and wife, P H Teats and family, M Beno, G F Rogers, Jos Lapray and wife, A A Fink and family Mrs E Harrison T G Bean and family, A S Richards and wife, G Dietsh, J Albright, J D Dunning and wife

VALUABLE CANINE KILLED —One more dog has "[illegible] in her checks" and, it is to be hoped has gone where the "good dogs go" It happened in this wise A valuable dog belonging to [illegible] Knott of the Stark street ferry, was troubled with a constant inclination to swim in the river She had contracted a habit of jumping off the boat when the craft was nearing land, and swimming to the shore, taking good care not to allow the boat to overtake her. Yesterday, as the ferry-boat was approaching the eastern shore, the dog plunged in and made for the land The animal succeeded in reaching the platform, when the apron of the boat struck her, completely severing the head from the trunk The dog was valued very highly by the owner, he having several times refused to part with her for $100

NEW FERTILIZER —We were shown yesterday by a gentleman in the suburbs some extraordinary small fruits which he had caused to attain a monstrous size by the use of a new fertilizer He had a choice variety of strawberry plants, and by sprinkling a solution of the sulphate of iron over them, the berries grew to be nearly as large as peaches His raspberries many of which would make a bushel, and a dozen of which he brought for our inspection, were simply wonderful in their proportions The gentleman informed us that the discovery of this new developer was accidental, and that beans sprinkled with it gain 60 per cent in size and quality, and peach trees are immensely benefitted

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE ASYLUM —We are informed by Dr J C Hawthorne, that several improvements are being made in and about the Asylum which will soon be put under way and completed. The principal improvement will be the erection of a large and commodious room adjoining the Asylum, to be used when finished for a play room for the patients, and to hold divine service on each Sunday So says the Era

I. O O F —At a regular meeting of Samaritan Lodge No 2, I O O F, held at Odd Fellows' Temple, on Wednesday evening last, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: U E Hicks, N G, Daniel Reiman, V G W. H. Brackett, R S, John Rines, Treasurer C H. Martin, P. S The above officers will be installed on next Wednesday evening.

ENTERTAINMENT —A very pleasant Academic year having drawn to a close at the Portland Academy, the pupils will give a musical and literary entertainment at Masonic Hall this evening A very choice programme of vocal and instrumental music, with declamations dialogues and addresses has been furnished

TEMPERANCE RALLY —Mr. George B Taylor and Rev A C McDougall will address the citizens of East Portland at Odd Fellows Hall this evening, at 8 o'clock, on the subject of temperance. Stirring music will be furnished for the occasion The public are invited to attend Admission free

K R. C —An organization of the Order of the Knights of the Red Cross was perfected in this city last night by Rev A C McDougall and G B. Taylor, Esq We are not informed as to the precise nature of the objects of this Association, but learn that its chief aim is to advance the temperance cause

THE COUNCIL —In pursuance of a provision of the Charter a meeting of the Council was held last night. Those present were Councilmen Bester, Caywood, Congle, Hallock, Moreland Russell and Story. Without transacting any business the Council adjourned until Wednesday evening.

CENTRAL SCHOOL HOUSE.

It was resolved, at the last annual School Meeting by the voters of School District No 1 to make necessary additions and enlargements to the building known as the Central School House situated on the block directly west of the Custom House and Postoffice block It having been stated that the present school buildings were inadequate to meet the demands of public education, it was determined to make such alterations and additions to the centrally located building the present year as would meet these requirements An additional tax was also levied to insure the necessary amount of money needed to commence the work The School Directors Messrs J N D[illegible], I S Gilmer and I D Glenn having examined the various plans and styles of school buildings now in use in Chicago San Francisco and other large cities and consulted with the teachers employed in the various schools of this city have reported a plan for the new school house, work on which has already commenced The plan adopted does not copy after any one style but is a combination of several with such original improvements as the local demands of the situation have suggested

Through the courtesy of Mr W W Piper we have examined the plans and specifications now in his office The new building will stand on the present site of the old one, which will soon be moved back to Seventh street It will be 120 feet long extending north and south and will have a depth of 60 feet The old building will be attached to the rear of the new school house and will be used after some internal alterations have been made for the same purpose as now The basement of the building will be constructed of brick with sufficient altitude above the established grade of the streets to admit of drainage It will be fifteen feet in the clear from floor to ceiling and will be used as a gymnasium and playground for the schools This will obviate the necessity of children playing in either the hot sun or rain For the present, the first story will not be completed The second story will be divided into four large school rooms situated at each corner of the building and capable of seating with ease 50 to 60 scholars Each room is 34 by 34 feet In the center of this story, will be a large Assembly room, 40 by 60 feet, which will be used as a sort of chapel, in which examinations, public meetings and the general exercises of the school will be held Between this large hall, and each of the four school rooms described, are sliding doors of wood and glass, which can be easily slid back, so as to convert the entire story into one capacious room The seats in each room are so arranged as to face the stage or rostrum, situated at the western end of the Assembly room Opening through the roof are two large windows which throw light over all the rooms, and the glass partition will uniformly distribute the light throughout the story

At each end of the building are stairways reaching from the basement to the second story, and having no connection with the rooms These flights will be so constructed as to permit the children from the respective rooms to ascend and descend without making any noise or disturbing those in other departments in their studies This is a defect which has been sought to be remedied in many large and well regulated schools The floors also have been deadened, so that no confusion is created by the children in either passing to and fro to their respective recitations, or to the play grounds

Ample provisions have also been made for the comfort and convenience of the teachers employed A small room is connected with each of the principal rooms which is designed for the teachers

The building will have a plain front and no decorations There will be one main and two side entrances to the school house, which will be three stories in height Over the main entrance a tower will be erected which will be ninety feet in height

In the front part of the large room on the second story a door opens into a hall where a stairway will lead to the tower from the roof of which a fine view of the surrounding country can be obtained A fine railing will be placed around the tower to prevent accidents The building will have fifteen windows in front and have a sloping roof which will be shingled The tower roof will be the French Mansard style

About $15,000 will be expended in the construction of the building the present year The entire building will cost between $25 000 and $30,000, and will probably be finished by next year

A Sabbath School temperance meeting was held at the Taylor street M E Church on last Sunday Interesting addresses were delivered by Messrs Taylor and McDougal followed by Messrs Moore and Blake, and also by Rev J F De Vore and Hon A G Cooke, of Vancouver

The officers and the scholars of Ames' chapel Sunday School, assisted by several visitors gave a very interesting missionary concert on last Sunday The exercises consisted of singing, recitations, declamations, reading addresses and a collection for the benefit of Home and Foreign Missions

THE LAST LEAP.

A MAN LEAPS OFF THE STARK STREET FERRY BOAT AND IS DROWNED

A man named Thomas Chapman leaped off the Stark street ferryboat yesterday about 11 o clock A M when the boat was a short distance from the eastern bank of the river as she was on her way to this city As related by an eye witness the circumstances attending this extraordinary case of suicide, is as follows Chapman came on board the ferryboat a few minutes before she started for this side When about seventy five yards from the eastern shore he was approached by the ferryman who asked him for his fare He hesitated some little time before complying with the request so that the collector of tickets found it necessary to repeat the request Chapman still seemed reluctant and appeared to be in a very confused state of mind At last he drew out a ten cent piece handed it to the ticket man and as he received the change, said "My name is Chapman, and I live in East Portland—don't forget that" He repeated this several times and added "My wife left me yesterday, and I am completely done for there is nothing in this world that I desire to live for" The ticket collector thought he acted very strangely but took no further notice of the man He was in the act of entering the door of the cabin when Chapman once more telling him not to forget his (Chapman's) name he rushed past the steersman and leaped overboard

A cry was heard "man overboard" the engine was quickly reversed and the boat backed but to no purpose He did not sink immediately but swam a few strokes turned upon his back and slowly sank, without an effort to save himself Before his clothes became thoroughly saturated with water J s Burkhel who saw him take the leap jerked off his coat and was in the act of springing after the man when several persons caught hold of him and prevented him from doing so Everybody seemed paralyzed for a few moments and nothing at all was done to rescue the drowning man In a moment he had sank from sight and was seen no more [illegible] a piece of timber had been thrown in [illegible] man [illegible] have been [illegible]

The entire proceedings were enacted [illegible] that no [illegible] was [illegible] until it was too late

The cause of this sad [illegible] to be a trouble [illegible] domestic [illegible] the [illegible] were [illegible] apprised

The deceased was about 4[illegible] years of age a native of England and a carpenter by trade [illegible] little is known of him as he came to the State but a short time ago He purchased a piece of land near the Asylum and was living there at the time of his death On hearing the sad intelligence his wife became nearly distracted

A short time after the [illegible] grappling irons and ropes were procured and efforts made to recover the body without success, up to 7 o clock last evening

Chapman is reported to have been in moderate circumstances financially and so far as known was an industrious and peaceable citizen

MASONIC DEDICATION

The new Masonic Hall situated at the corner of Alder and Third streets was dedicated yesterday afternoon at [illegible] o'clock About half past one o clock the several Lodges [illegible] the members of the [illegible] Lodge and sojourning members formed at the old hall, corner of [illegible] and Front streets and headed by the First [illegible] and Brass Band marched through several of the principal streets of the city and to the hall A large number of ladies and gentlemen were at the hall for half an hour before the exercises commenced but were not allowed to enter until after the arrival of the procession On reaching the Temple the procession filed into the side door and up three flights of stairs to the hall After the several Lodges were seated the ladies and invited guests were allowed to enter The hall was densely crowded and quite a number were unable to obtain seats at all At precisely

the dedication ceremonies commenced and lasted about one hour We were unable to see and hear many portions of the exercises but they were throughout most beautiful symbolic and impressive During the progress of the ceremonies Messrs DeFrans Norfield, Wadhams and Wyatt rendered some very beautiful and appropriate music At the conclusion of the dedicatory ceremonies, Past Grand Master W [illegible] Hare came forward and delivered an oration which occupied about thirty minutes The address was an eloquent and able effort and we regret that space precludes its publication

A resolution of thanks was passed at the conclusion of the address to the gentlemen who had furnished such excellent music and also to the members present and the ladies and gentlemen for their careful attention during the ceremonies The Lodges were then dismissed

given last evening by the ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star at the hall was a grand success About 500 ladies and gentlemen were present There were four long tables extending through the hall loaded with splendid viands of every description The exercises of the evening commenced with an address from Judge Lair Hill to the members of Eastern Lodge followed by a song from Professor David Norfield music by the Metropolitan Band, a fine recitation by George B Waldron (Poe's "Raven") the supper etc

We regret that the lateness of the hour prevents a more extended notice The evening's entertainment concluded with a grand ball Everything was splendidly conducted, and it was one of the most successful affairs ever attempted in the city

PROSPECTUS.

THE THROUGH LINE!

A RAILROAD JOURNAL, TO BE PUBLISHED weekly in the city of Portland Oregon devoted to the interests of railroads and kindred subjects and especially to the success of the

Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad

In the interest of this road we have already made one campaign wherein against great odds our efforts have been crowned with a fair measure of success It is now a fixed fact, recognized by the Government and becoming attractive to men of capital and influence

With the issuance of this prospectus we enter upon a second campaign in which the friends of the great work will find it profitable to be united firm and persistent.

We shall early discuss the subject of legitimate and reasonable State aid in the prosecution of the work, and as an endorsement of the importance of this deservedly popular enterprise

Preparatory to a renewal of our efforts at the next session of Congress we shall fully discuss the national and local importance of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, and through the instrumentality of The Through Line familiarize members of Congress and the American public with the subject in all its bearings The discussion will cover the whole ground and no fact or matter which may be deemed of importance will be allowed to pass unnoticed

The successful completion of the railroads embraced in the system of the Pacific Northwest, we shall give our hearty support to all that is fair and just and especially shall we endeavor to keep alive and make useful that public sentiment in Oregon everywhere manifested in behalf of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

Our knowledge of the several roads embraced in this system their origin and progress the various laws that have been passed concerning them, and the country through which they pass will enable us to give from time to time to the American and European reader reliable and important information connected therewith

Our friends should be especially vigilant in getting subscribers and giving The Through Line a wide circulation We have made arrangements for its publication and shall employ a competent assistant in the Editorial Department It will be a twenty column paper and the first number will be issued on or about the 20th of June, inst Subscription $2 50 per annum

Almost Incredible

When Jacob courted Mary Jane,
A lass without fault he thought her,
And every evening, fair or foul,
Attired in all his best he sought her,
She's honest, true, and kind, said he,
As she is pretty in her features,
And if she'll only marry me,
We'll be the happiest of creatures.

His parents hearing how he fell,
And noticing his eager hurry,
Said "Son, be cautious. She won't do!!
Don't be in such a precious hurry.
Her family are not renowned
For being quite as meek as Moses,
And some who married in it found
No end of thorns in their roses."

"I'll try her temper," Jacob cried
"In all the ways by spite invented."
But ere a dozen tricks he'd tried,
His own good nature sore repented,
The more he teased to make her mad,
Instead of vixen spunk revealing,
She only seemed as meekly sad
As comes of wounded tender feelings.

No longer seeing room to doubt
That she was mild beyond expression
Our Jacob brought the question out,
And she surrendered at discretion.
In proper course the wedding came,
With orange bloom, and tears, and laughter,
A bridal tour to crown the same,
And pretty cottage home thereafter.

But ah, alas! for Jacob's peace!
Ere yet the honeymoon was over,
His Mary's temper broke the lease
He thought he had on life in clover.
From being gentle as of old,
And shedding tears when he'd offend her,
She turned into a perfect scold,
As ugly as the Witch of Endor!

Astounded at the fearful change,
And wond'ring how he had been blinded,
The hapless man could not arrange
The question's answers as he minded;
Till, at her father's house one day
He put the query, quite emphatic
"How did you take me in that way!"
Said she, "I'll show you, in the attic."

And then they climbed the garret stair,
Till, standing under beams unnumbered,
The lady showed, with mocking airs,
A central post with braces cumbered;
"You see it's nearly worn in twain,
Or seems to be, with weight it's carried;
But with my teeth I gnawed the grain,
A fortnight, just, before we married!

Whenever you would tease me most,
And then had gone and left me beaming,
I used to come and gnaw the post,
To keep myself from raging, screaming!
I knew you'd never know your mind,
If temper I should show forbade you."
Said Jacob, "that, my dear, in you was kind;
But don't I wish some other had you."

Bill of Fare of Red Cloud's Company in New York.

[From the N. Y. Herald, June 10.]

The savages were taken to the Grand Central Hotel on Broadway. Their appearance at the hotel caused the greatest excitement, particularly among the lady guests of the house, as the Ogallallas were attired in the same fashion as they appear on the plains when they attempt to rob a stage or scalp a select batch of emigrants, with the exception that they had no war paint on and were not armed.

Red Cloud had red breeches and a huge red scarf around his throat. Six of the braves had large German silver crosses pendent from their necks and extending a foot in length down their tawny chests. Red Dog, the second chief, is a gentle youth of forty-five summers, weighing about 195 pounds, and has the appearance of having kept (at some period of his life) a German lager beer saloon. They have all, without exception, long, jet black hair, straight and coarse in texture, which is flattened down with grease to the shape of their heads.

The proprietor of the hotel and his clerks having assigned them their apartments, the noble red men marched to their rooms with a stolid look of self-satisfaction on their faces and a grunt in their mouths. Supper was soon afterward prepared for them in a separate dining room, in which they all sat down to a hearty meal.

Big Foot made a terrible onslaught on the cold chicken, and ate nearly three pounds of that dainty fowl. High Bear demolished two jars of chow-chow, and made himself so sick that the other braves grunted at him in high savage glee. Red Fox, who seemed to be the wit of the party, filled his coffee with half a cruet full of cayenne pepper, and imagined immediately afterwards that he had swallowed the Evil Spirit. The squaw of Lone Wolf, Mrs. Ear-of-Corn, took quite a fancy to the cold boiled ham, and punished two pounds of that solid commodity. Stabber, who justifies his very sanguinary name by his ferocious looks, manifested a ravishing delight at the sight of a huge dish of strawberries and cream, and appropriated the entire contents without saying grace. During the meal Red Cloud, as became his dignity, maintained the greatest decorum. Red Dog ate in dismal silence. Blue Horse left the table first in order, and was followed by his chum, Red Leaf. Daylight carried away four bananas to regale himself in a corner, and the remaining braves, accompanied by the two ladies, retired in a body to their rooms, which are somewhat more palatial in aspect than the wigwams from whence they came, on the fork of the North Platte.

Red Dog is the savage who, in command of a party of Sioux years ago, lay in wait in the underbrush some distance from Fort Fetterman for a company of Colonel Carrington's regiment, 96 in number, who went out to gather wood. Not one of these good and true men ever returned to tell the tale of that dreadful slaughter. They met Red Dog's war party and were massacred to a man. And there sat this savage, with his cunning eye and evil face glooming, and perhaps thinking of the number of scalps hanging in his wigwam in far-off Wyoming.

Niagara Falls.

ITS RATE OF RECESSION—HEIGHT COMPARED WITH LAKE MICHIGAN—A GEOLOGIST'S IMPRESSIONS.

Prof. Gunning, during a recent course of geological lectures, spoke as follows about Niagara Falls and its history:

Ten years ago, he said, he had stood on Prospect point and looked searchingly at the American fall. Within a few days he had stood there again, but what he saw did not answer to the image his mind had carried for ten years. The rim of the precipice is more indented. Here and there a mass of rock has fallen, leaving a notch, the beginnings of a a little horse-shoe. The great horse-shoe itself had changed. At the point of deepest water and deepest green the curve is deeply notched. Any observer whose knowledge of the falls covers only a few years will see that they are receding.

The recession has been very slow—the speaker thought not more than six inches a year. At the present rate of recession it would have taken 75,000 years to cut the channel from Lewiston to the present site of the horse-shoe. The speaker drew a section of the river bank from Lewiston upward, and showed that the seven groups of strata come to the surface between Lewiston and the falls. At the whirlpool a very hard, flinty sandstone appears on the water's edge. Through this the fall would cut its way slowly. Here for ages the cataract was almost stationary.

Above the new suspension bridge the Clinton group dips to the water's edge. These rocks are compact, and here the fall makes another halt. Seventy thousand years are not enough. We can only approximate, but perhaps 150,000 would be a closer approximation to the age of the channel than 75,000 years.

This is not all. We find an old river bed, filled with drift, between the whirlpool and St. David's. The fall began not at Lewiston, but St. David's. Perhaps 200,000 years for the entire history of the fall would not be above the demand. We think of this as long, and our wonder is that the falls are so old. But he who looks with a geologic eye thinks of the time as short, and his wonder is that the falls are so young. The upper lakes are old. Geologically, the lake era is very old. It was dry land long before the Alleghany mountains were lifted up. The river which drains it should be old, and yet the Niagara, perhaps, is only 200,000 years old! How shall we account for the drainage of the lakes through so many millions of years not registered in the channels of Niagara?

The speaker drew a section of the upper lakes, and showed that the Niagara river at the head of the rapids is only thirty feet higher than the face of Lake Michigan. A barrier thirty feet high, across the Niagara plateau, would throw the waters of Lake Erie back on Lake Michigan, and the drainage would be through the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico. Western geologists have found an old river channel from the lake to the Illinois, and the speaker drew sections of a great barrier which once stretched across the plateau. The old river bed in Illinois and the broken bridge across the Niagara plateau account for the extreme youth of the falls.—Lockport N. Y. Union.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 27, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 113⅞.

Wheat in Liverpool, 12s 4d@12s 8d.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 88c buying, 89 selling.

Business in nearly all lines is quiet. Demand for Dry Goods is limited, prices without change. In Woolen Goods there are no new features to report. Stocks continue full. For Boots and Shoes the trade is fair, especially for all styles of light goods for summer wear. There is a full line of goods in market. The stock of staple Groceries, except Coffee, is fair. Of Coffee the market is entirely bare. Demand for Agricultural Implements and Machinery is much below what was expected. This is in consequence of unfavorable prospects of the crops. It is believed that much of the late sown grain will not pay for cutting. Some farmers are preparing to cut fields of oats and spring wheat for hay. In Hardware prices are well maintained, and trade continues fairly active. For Building Hardware, Nails, etc., the demand is steady. Liquors are in good supply, at rates previously reported.

The British ship Forward, now here, was chartered for the round voyage from Hongkong to Portland and return, for $7,750. The charter of the Edward James for the same trip, round voyage, was $9,000. The Edward James may be expected within a week.

Much embarrassment is likely to be felt from the want of tonnage to carry away the products of the Pacific Coast. Already this embarrassment is severely felt at San Francisco. Arrangements have been made at that city to load Wheat for Liverpool at £3 7s 6d, the highest rate ever paid. Says the San Francisco Bulletin: "In 1868, there were about 180 vessels chartered here for Wheat and Flour, chiefly for Europe. The extremes paid direct to Liverpool were from £1 5s to £3 15s, most of the vessels getting £3 and upwards. In 1869, the range was still wider, say £2 2s 6d to £4 10s. In 1870, the highest paid was £3, and from that down to £2, most of the charters coming within the range of £2 5s to £2 15s. Last year the rates were £2 to £2 5s. For the crop now coming in, £2 15s to £3 5d has been paid." The rise in freights will certainly tell upon prices paid producers for their Wheat. Probably eight vessels, to arrive here with railroad iron, will be for charter this fall.

Money in San Francisco, which had for some time been easy and abundant, has become scarce, and commercial journals of that city report that in the local money market there is something which is akin to tightness. From one of those journals we quote: "For a long time we had a superabundance of funds, but the various and unusually large requirements made for them have about exhausted the supply for the nonce. The demands for all sorts of legitimate transactions were never more active, while those for harvesting and marketing the crops are very urgent and extensive. Several of our banks have loaned all their spare cash, except just enough to keep within the limits of financial prudence. Others are holding firmly at rates formerly quoted—namely, 1@1¼ per cent. per month in commercial, and 10@11 per cent. per year in savings banks. Had it not been for the influx of foreign capital sent here for investment, the unusual volume of receipts from the mines, the relief furnished by the organization of another gold note bank, and the doubling of the other one's capital, there would have been a severe stringency at the very period when money is most in demand."

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a circular to collectors informing them that the tax on manufactured tobacco is twenty cents per pound after July 1, and on distilled spirits seventy cents per gallon on and after August 1. Lengthy directions are given concerning the stamps, and collectors are required to return to the Department all remaining on hand at the close of business on the 30th of June.

The New York Herald correspondent states that the change of tax on whisky was to have taken place July 1, instead of August 1, and that the change to a month later in the engrossed bill must have been designedly made in the interest of parties in the whisky trade.

A correspondent at Honolulu writes that planters are holding back their Sugars, in some doubt whether to send them to Australia, Oregon, California or to British Columbia. Two vessels have arrived at San Francisco from Honolulu with only parts of cargoes, not being able to obtain full freight.

The barkentine Webfoot is discharging cargo at Flanders's wharf.

The Melancthon will finish discharging to-day, and will soon go down the river.

Domestic Produce.

WHEAT—The market is still neglected and there are no new features to report. Receipts are light. The Annie M. Small, loading for the United Kingdom, receives her cargo slowly. Views of holders and buyers are still apart. Good lots are quotable at about $1 65 per cental.

FLOUR—Market unchanged. The Ajax for San Francisco took but a small lot. In San Francisco, Oregon standard brands are quoted at $6@6 25 ℔ bbl. In this market standard extras are quoted at $5 75. Outside and common, $4 50@5 25 ℔ bbl.

OATS—Ruling rates are about $2 ℔ cental, or 70@75c per bushel. In Wallamet valley the crop will be light, owing to drouth. In the Umpqua valley many good fields are reported. Harvest in that part of the State will begin early in the coming week. Some fields of oats are being cut for hay.

POTATOES—Market now fairly supplied with new Oregon, and shipments from San Francisco are being discontinued. Ruling rates are 1@1½c ℔ lb.

FEED—Bran, $25 ℔ ton; middlings $35, including sacks; chopped feed, $35 ℔ ton.

BUTTER—Good Butter is scarce and much wanted. Common and inferior grades are in abundant supply. Choice roll would bring 35c. Other grades are from 18 to 30c, according to quality. The absence of good Butter and the appearance in the market of so much of inferior kind is a disgrace to Oregon.

EGGS—Receipts of Eggs continue fair, but have fallen off from receipts of a few weeks ago. Quotable in lots to-day at 24c ℔ dozen.

CHEESE—Market well supplied with Hathaway's and Ankeny's, which commands 16c ℔ lb.

WOOL—Market continues to droop. Buyers are exhibiting a marked degree of shyness, and sellers are unable to hold up the market. It is evident that the prices which were offered some weeks ago will not be offered again this year. It is difficult to get quotations here. We however quote at 35@38c ℔ lb.

LIVE STOCK—Good beef cattle are now abundant, and are quotable at 6c ℔ lb on foot. Sheep, $3@3 50 ℔ head. Hogs, 8@9c ℔ lb.

HIDES AND SKINS—There is fair inquiry for Dry Hides, but business is light. Prices are the same as last week. Good Dry, quotable at 16@18c; Green, 8@8½c ℔ lb. Sheep skins, without wool, 10@12c each.

DRIED FRUITS—Market quotable for Apples at from 8@8½c ℔ lb for packed, 7@7½c ℔ lb for loose. Plums, from 17@19c ℔ lb.

BACON—Supply of eastern in market is large. Hams are quotable at from 16@16½c ℔ lb. Bacon, 13½@14½c. Shoulders, 10@11½c; Lard, 13½@16.

POULTRY—Receipts are somewhat more free. Hens and Roosters quotable at from $4 50@5 ℔ dozen; spring Chickens, $2 50@3 ℔ dozen; Ducks, $6 ℔ dozen.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED AT THE NATIONAL CONVENTION, HELD AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 6, 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the City of Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. During the eleven years of its supremacy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time. It suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offenses and had warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily decreased with firm hand the resultant disorders of a great war, and initiated a wise policy toward the Indians. The Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted, the public lands freely given to actual settlers, immigration protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers. A uniform National currency has been provided, repudiation frowned down, the National credit sustained under the most extraordinary burdens, and new bonds negotiated at lower rates of interest. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reduction from the rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during Gen. Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100,000,000 a year. A great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the Nation kept in a high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future, and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4. The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public positions, without practically creating a life-tenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement by the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt, and except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to laborers, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for the country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, once a subject always a subject, having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Governments, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way proposed for reductions in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an important duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption of specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction; and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments. It disapproves of resorting to unconstitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.
